

RESEARCH METHODOLOGY WORKSHOP & SEMINAR FOR SC/ST RESEARCH SCHOLARS

Livelihood, Health and Well-Being of Marginalized Groups in India

MARCH 26-30, 2018

INSTITUTE OF ECONOMIC GROWTH, DELHI

SUPPORTED BY

INDIAN COUNCIL OF SOCIAL SCIENCE RESEARCH, NEW DELHI.

Economic reforms in the past 25 years have led to remarkable economic growth and rise in per capita income, and benefited different regions and social groups differently. In this backdrop, some important questions emerged here are Have livelihoods and the well-being of marginalized groups improved significantly? If not, what have been the impediments?

The Institute of Economic Growth (IEG) organizes research methodology workshop followed by a seminar on Livelihood, health and well-being of Marginalized Groups in India to discuss these issues, to provide the government policy inputs—based on the discussions—in the form of a policy brief. Develop the capacity of Scheduled Caste and Scheduled Tribe Research Scholars who are interested in working on issues related to Livelihood, health and well-being of marginalized groups in India is another aim.

IEG invites abstracts from SC and ST research scholars across India for this workshop. Abstracts (300 words) on the thematic areas, including a title and author's affiliation, should be submitted by email to amarnath@iegindia.org & william@iegindia.org by 16th March 2018. IEG will provide 2nd AC return railway fare and local hospitality to the selected participants during the workshop.

Important dates:

Deadline for submission of abstracts :	16 March, 2018
Notification for the acceptance:	17 March, 2018
Days of Workshop:	26-30 March, 2018

Workshop coordinators:

Amarnath Tripathi (amarnath@iegindia.org) and William Joe (william@iegindia.org)